BY WINTER'S ICE AND SNOW

Catarrh, like some other blood diseases, is worse at certain seasons of the year. During warm, pleasant weather, when an active, out-door life may be enjoyed, sufficient exercise indulged in, and when other favorable conditions exist, some of the impurities hopes for women's private cars and po- and catarrhal poisons which produce the trouble are removed from the system through the perspiration and other avenues of bodily drainage. But when Winter comes with its snow and ice, the free working of the system is interfered with, the blood becomes thick and congested, and the catarrhal matter is left to disease the body.

The entire inner portion of the body is lined with a delicate fibre known as mucous membrane—in other words the inner skin of our bodies. This membranous tissue is a perfect network of veins, arteries and capillaries, through which it is supplied with nourishment and healthful properties from the great source of life, the blood. So long as the circulation remains pure this mucous membrane will be healthy, but when the blood becomes infected with catarrhal impurities and poisons, the tissues become diseased, and Catarrh with all its unpleasant symptoms gets a foothold in the system. The polluted, impure condition of the blood causes irritation and inflammation of the different mucous surfaces, and the early stages of Catarrh are characterized by such symptoms as a tight, stuffy feeling in the head, watery eyes, ringing noises in the ears, constant "hawking and spitting," and often hoarseness and difficult breathing. The annoyance of even these early symptoms, together with the filthy character of the disease, makes Catarrh a dreaded and disgusting trouble, but after the blood is more thoroughly steeped in the impurity it becomes a general systemic disease.

Every fibrous tissue becomes involved, the bronchial tubes are attacked, producing a chronic cough, the soft bones and cartilages of the head are diseased and sometimes destroyed, the stomach is affected, resulting in dyspepsia, and gradually the entire system is upset. But Catarrh does still greater damage; frequently the kidneys and bladder are attacked, and the continual passage of impure blood through the lungs affects these vital members, and then Catarrh terminates in Consumption.

Being a deep-seated blood disease Catarrh must be treated constitutionally, for it is beyond the reach of local or surface treatment. Washes, sprays, inhalations, etc., are perhaps cleanly, and in some cases antiseptic, and for this reason desirable; but such treatment does not reach the cause and can never cure the disease. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all the impure catarrhal matter, and at the same time builds up the system by its

Gentlemen:—I suffered for a long time with a bad case of Catarrh. I had a continual headache, my unequalled tonic effects. It goes down into the circulation and attacks the disease at its head and removes every trace of the pollution that is causing the trouble. In plain language, S. S. S. purifies the blood so that the mucous linings are all supplied with healthy, life-giving properties instead of being saturated with foul catarrhal matter. Then the inflamed and irritated membranes heal, the discharge is checked, the head noises disappear, the stomach is toned up, and all the symptoms of Catarrh pass away. If you are suffering with Catarrh begin the use of S. S., and by removing the cause and building up your system rid yourself of this dangerous and far-reaching trouble. Literature about Catarrh and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.
